ASPIRE HOUSE

McLean

McLean, VA

"Our eureka moment was when we realized what an important space the home office had become due to COVID lifestyle."

— Jodi Macklin

"I was inspired by my own cancer survival story. In spite of having ovarian cancer, I was able to have three children. I was so excited to share our beautiful survivor story."

— Katalin Farnady

"Our inspiration was the rich, verdant landscape and the beautiful architecture of the home."

— Paul Lobkovich

"Due to the pandemic, several of the workrooms were experiencing delays. Luckily everyone came through and I'm so appreciative. Great design cannot happen without the many vendors and workrooms that go out of their way to help."

— Alaina Michelle Ralph

"For this project I chose to use all of my favorite things: antiques, Indian block print, chinoiserie, brass, original art, ceramics from Puglia and my sense of humor."

— Federica Asack

"Turning the garage into a space that met so many social needs felt right for the time, and it was inspiring to me - I'm recreating this space at our own home with a lot of the same pieces!"

— Christian Daw

"A showhouse is an opportunity to express your own design point of view. I was fortunate to have a room that fit my sensitivities."

— Nestor Santa-Cruz

Guest Bedroom Maureen's Retreat is inspired by the designer's mother, who recently passed away. It is the in-home getaway for a woman who is vibrant and contemplative, deeply thoughtful, and loads of fun. It is the imagined private quarters for the woman we all want to sit by at the next dinner party. Both the bedroom and woman are historically grounded in the past yet clearly contemporary, always mixing just the right amount of cheekiness to surprise you and hold your attention. This room celebrates her and all women of style, substance, heart, and wit.

"I inherited my love of design from my late mother, who I dedicated this effort to. While she did not live to see the room, she was very much part of the design process."

— Josh Hildreth

The Guest Bath is a little gem—celebrating color, pattern, and line, all creating high drama in a relatively small space. This bathroom is a study in the intensity of green and how it pairs with other items such as the wall-hung vanity, floor tile, the unexpected birds in the window treatment, and the cheetah spots in the water closet. It is whimsical like the Emerald City and raw like the jungle, making this room anything but boring.

"McLean is a thriving community that has a small town feel and nestled just minutes (or in some cases even a stoplight) from Washington, DC. I should know, I am a resident."

— Allie Mann

The Vestibule is imagined as a good spot to share a secret. An elegant statue in a vulnerable pose was the designer's muse. This inviting nook is accented by a whimsical bunny by Hunt Stonem, a geometric rug, and wallpaper inspired by Indian block printing.
